An extension as provided by the law moved the election date from last Tuesday to June 2.

Death Of Nurse In Japan Is Unexplained

Lt. (jg) Marguerite French, 26-year-old Navy nurse, and a native of Pass Christian, died April 30 in Sasebo, Japan, according to a cablegram received Tuesday morning by her grandmother, Mrs. W. B. Lundy and her aunt Mrs. Kenneth Murphy, 611 Menzies Avenue, Pass Christian, with whom she made her home. She is survived by another aunt, Mrs. Edna Ramond, Bay St. Louis, and two brothers, John J. French, Chicago, and Walter French, Pass Christian.

According to Mrs. Ramond, the message gave no details of her niece's death and a telephone call to the Naval Base at Sasebo revealed only that Miss French was found in her quarters dead. Naval officials stated that a letter would follow soon as the cause of death was determined.

Lt. French, who was born December 10, 1930, had served in the Navy for nearly three years and had left for Japan on April 17 after a visit with her family.

Shortly after the cablegram was received, a letter arrived from Lt. French to her grandmother telling of her trip overseas, how happy she was with her new station, and of the many sights that she was seeing.

She was a graduate of Pass Christian High School, New Orleans Baptist Hospital School of Nursing and a member of the Baptist Church.

The body will be returned to the Coast from Japan for services and interment.

THREE SLOTS ARE NABBED IN DELISLE RAID

Three conventional-type slot machines were seized around 9 o'clock Saturday night at the Pecan Grove Club in Delisle, Harrison County Sheriff J. J. Wittmann said.

The operator of the establishment, which is located near the Hancock-Harrison county line, was identified as Douglas Deaux, a Negro.

Sheriff Wittmann said he and sheriff's deputies Claude Miller, Archie Fairley and Victor Ladner made the raid following a tip from an unidentified source.

This marked the third seizure in the last three months where slot machines have been the target of raids in Harrison County.

The machines will be destroyed, said Sheriff Wittmann.

Action Follows Arrest Of US 90 Restaurant Owner

Constable Herman J. Mazarakis was arrested Wednesday night by Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner on a charge of extortion. The Beat Five law officer will go before judge Nolan Ladner Tuesday.

District Attorney Boyce Holleman will represent the state of Mississippi at the trial. The constable, who took office in January, was released on bond of $250 pending the trial.

Henry Kothmann, owner and manager of a restaurant on Hwy 90, four miles west of Bay St. Louis, swore out the warrant. He stated that the constable had demanded a payment of $3.00 a week on two pin ball machines, offering to allow use of the machines for gambling purposes.

Tuesday morning the constable arrested Kothmann and charged him with the possession of gambling devices and allowing minors to play gambling devices.

Mazarakis, who declined to make a statement, had said earlier that cash payoffs were made over the counter at the restaurant.

The cases are set for trial in separate courts. Kothmann goes before justice of the peace Nellus Rhodes and Mazarakis before justice of the peace Nolan Ladner.

Kothmann denied the charges and said, "When I refused to pay him (Mazarakis), the constable told me to take the machines out. I refused, saying they were legal and he then said he would take them out himself."

The restaurant owner was released Tuesday on $300 bond pending trial.

Pinball machines are legally operated in Mississippi—however, when payoffs are made they become gambling devices, which are illegal.

District Attorney Holleman will also serve as prosecuting attorney for the Kothmann trial. D. M. Russell, Jr., Bay St. Louis, will be defense counsel for Kothmann.

State To Lease 800,000 Acres Offshore Oil Lands

The State mineral lease commission will begin leasing the 800,000 acres of offshore submerged land in the Mississippi Sound beginning July 1, according to H. M. Morse, state oil and gas supervisor.

Because of recent oil activity in Hancock County marshlands is mapping the area into 5,000 where Ansley field has been developed. Morse said he expects an active interest in the leasing of the submerged lands in Mississippi Sound.

He said that the commission is mapping the area into 5,000 acre plays for leasing to high-expect bidders.

In past years two offshore wells have been attempted without success.

Coast Girds To Repel Skeeter Invasion

By Christopher Bell

Bizzzzzz!

No! That sound. Not again this summer! Well, not at Hancock County officials can do anything about it, according to Dr. C. M. Shipp, county health department director.

A survey of the county's mosquito problem will be made next week and the Gulf Coast's mosquito problem solved, it is hoped.

Mayor John Scaffide and Dr. Shipp attended a meeting Tuesday in Biloxi concerning the pesky pests.

Representatives of the Mosquito Control Organization of the coast authorized George B. Hayes Jr., Atlanta, Ga., chief of the state's section of the communicable disease center of the U. S. Public Health Service, to make the survey in the 3 coast counties.

Apart from the "temperamental" problem the skeeters present, it was pointed out that last year, as in years past, mosquitoes affected the tourist industry and caused considerable discomfort to the population.

Hayes outlined a permanent control plan for complete removal of the pests, which are due in for a full-fledged attack the first of June.

The Hancock County problem is concentrated around the salt and fresh water mosquitoes living in the marshes, said Dr. Shipp.

The health officer also declared that the migration of the yellow fever mosquitoes, which were last seen in Brownsville, Texas, a month ago, should not alarm the county as this area hasn't had a yellow fever case this century.

However, Dr. Shipp added, a few cases of malaria pop up every few years, carried mostly by servicemen coming home from the Pacific.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors is said to be ready to select a Mosquito Control Commission in their meeting Monday. The Commission will be composed of from three to five men.

The survey and control program is a county project, the Bay St. Louis mayor said.

Representatives from the cities along the coast attended the meeting at the Buena Vista Hotel.

Local Boy Fights Gator In Movie Sunday

A do-or-die wrestling match with a wiggling alligator was performed by a Bay St. Louis "double" in the motion picture "Swamp Woman," which plays here Sunday at the A & G Theatre.

Luke "Sunny" Saudier, 21, was hired for the Woolner Bros. production to double for the actor, Fonda Conner in a breath-taking alligator fight in Bayou LaCombe waters, near Slidell.

Saudier, a 6-foot 3-inch, 185-pounder, had as his biggest problem the keeping of the "gator" from dropping below the water line during the filming, as the cameras were above water.

Due to a unique job of makeup it would be hard to tell the difference between the actor Conner and young Saudier.

Saudier is now employed at the California Alligator Farm in Los Angeles.

The streets of Bay St. Louis are beginning to slightly resemble a speedway.

Speeding, especially in residential areas, is presenting considerable hazard, particularly to small children who, with the advent of summer weather, are playing outside.

And this is one instance where we cannot lay all the blame on our teenagers—we older people are among the prime offenders. Speeds of 35-40 are common up and down Main Street and other principal streets in town, and many folks do not hesitate to drive 50-60 along the seawall.

Let's slow down—not only to protect our own lives, but the life of some innocent child who may become a victim of our foolishness.

Horse sense is what keeps horses from placing bets on people.

Glenn Bunnell, in his column in the Cut Bank (Mont.) Pioneer Press, says a newspaperman is the only one who publishes his mistakes instead of hiding or burying them.

Boys and girls under the age of 18 must be off the streets of Pascagoula by 11:30 p.m.

Mayor Ed Wiggins announced Friday that enforcement of the city's curfew ordinance would begin Monday.

"Recent studies," the mayor said, "have proved that the greatest mischief occurs after 11:30 p.m."

SOUTHERN SAMPLERS

By CHRISTOPHER BELL

Everyone's whooping-up the story about the whooping crane's egg laying accomplishment over at Audubon Park. Quite an achievement. Probably will help a lot to save that particular bird from dwindling into the limbo of 'Birds We Used To Know'.

Which reminds us that the very first bird anyone knew went by the cute name of Archaeopteryx.

Poor Archie became extinct about fifty trillion years ago, but he left a sort of snapshot of himself, lest he should be both gone and forgotten.

What happened was that when Archie died he gradually became entombed in the fine-grained deposits of stone in what is now Bavaria. Seems that every bone was accounted for when ornithologist ran across him—some time later. All except the breastbone, which for some reason or other had disappeared.

Archie looked like a crow and probably lived in trees, although he had a lot of snaky characteristics, such as teeth in both jaws and a long, lizard-like tail, which just ain't the latest style for birds at the moment. Then too, Archie had claws on three fingers and some sort of half-formed wing.

He had a few extra bones for good measure, but was a little scarce on feathers. What there were of feathers, though, left their mark distinctly in the stone top, like fine, delicate etchings.

Poor Archie, gone these many millenniums! I think it would be rather nice if he were remembered now by maybe naming the expected newcomer after him. Think maybe I'll write Mr. Douglass about it. Archie is a nice enough name anyhow, and after all he was papa of the tribe. Think maybe I'll write Mr. Douglas, over at Audubon with a new name all ready for the little whooper.

Importance of National Guard Training Cited

The importance of basic training for a young man in the National Guard as emphasized in a statement today by Lt. Kingston, commanding officer of Co C 890th Engr Avn Bn, of the Mississippi National Guard, in which he urged young men of Bay St. Louis to join the National Guard and take the six months of basic training with the Active Army provided by the Reserve Forces Act of 1955.

A man who enlists in the National Guard before he is 18 will be deferred from induction into Federal service until age 28 so long as he performs satisfactory Guard service and he is not required to take active duty training. However, he may volunteer for the six months of basic training and thus reduce the time he must serve in the National Guard from "until age 28" to a total of eight years of service.

What this means, Lt. Kingston explained, is that a young man who enlists when he is 17 years old will finish his period of reserve military service at age 25. In other words, Lt. Kingston stated, this young man can chop three years off his total military obligation.

With an increase of interest in the development of a strong Ready Reserve force to back up the active Army, Navy, and Air Force, it is important that young men of this community and their parents be fully informed on how a young man may volunteer for such service in the National Guard, Lt. Kingston declared.

By enlisting in the National Guard a young man can plan his future, whether it be in school or in business, and he can reduce his period of required military service to the minimum by taking the six months active duty training. A young man with his eye not only wants to know where he is going, but for how many years he may have a military obligation.

The six months training is an adventure to a young high school graduate who might want a taste of Army life, but not want to sign up for a full enlistment. He can fit the period in between the time of graduation and the time he settles into a job. The training will round off his high school education with a period in which he will receive training in how to live with other young men

Local Inventors Receive Patent

Local residents George W. Shadoin and Sylvester Guagliardo have just received the final papers and Patent Rights from the Commissioner of Patents, Washington D. C., on their No-Stoop Laundry Aid & Clothes Pin Carrier.

They say their patent is so constructed that it eliminates all the back-bending and stooping involved in hanging out clothes on Washday.

It is constructed to carry the wet clothes on a folding arm, with the clothes pins carried in a plastic container directly beneath the folding arm, thus leaving both arms and hands free to hang up the clothes.

The entire carrier is attached to the body by an adjustable belt that slips over the head. The arm and pin carrier is fastened to an aluminum apron which fits the front of the body and the apron is attached to the adjustable belt that slips over the head making a compact and easily put on or taken off unit that will fit any person.

When not in use it folds up flat and is easily stored in laundry room or shelf.

Inboard Boats, Outboards Over Sixteen Feet Must Secure A Number From Coast Guard

By JIM PFEIFFER
All boats equipped with permanently installed motors, and all outboard boats over 16 feet in length must be numbered. To obtain an award number, the owner of an undocumented vessel must make application to the Coast Guard District Commander having jurisdiction over the area in which the vessel is owned. The application must be supported by suitable proof of ownership. Papers generally necessary to obtain an award number for most applicants are listed below—however, this is merely to cover every possible type of evidence of ownership which may be submitted. (1) New vessels, purchased from manufacturers or dealers—Bill of sale or paid-in-full receipt and two application cards (Form CG 1513). If the vessel is 25 feet or over in length, a Builder's Statement on Form CG 2895 or Master Carpenter's Certificate is required. (2) Vessels built by applicants—Receipts for materials used in construction and two application cards, Form CG 1512. If receipts are not available, Form CG 2945 (Claim of Ownership of Undocumented Vessels, together with the two application cards, may be accepted. If the owner is a recognized builder or manufacturer of boats, a Builder's Statement, (Form CG 2895) or Master Carpenter's Certificate, together with the two application cards, will be acceptable. (3) Used vessels not previously numbered—Bill of sale or paid-in-full receipt and two application cards (Form CG 1512 and complete chain of ownership if possible (Form CG 2945—Claim of Ownership of Undocumented Vessel—may be accepted if chain of ownership is not obtainable with reasonable effort. If vessel is 25 feet or over in length, a Builder's Statement (Form CG 2895) or Master Carpenter's Certificate should be obtained if possible. The District Commander of the Coast Guard is authorized to issue a letter of authorization permitting the vessel to temporarily operate without the certificate of award of number on board after accepting the application with proof of ownership, pending the receipt of the certificate of award of number by the new owner. A single copy of CG 1513, "Certificate of award of number to an undocumented vessel" will be prepared by the Coast Guard District Commander and delivered to the owner as soon as possible after receipt of the application and determination of satisfactory ownership is made. There is no charge for the issuance of a certificate of award of number.
